PRANA

BREATH

- Prana is a sanskrit word that means “ Vital Force “ or ” Life Energy ”.
- Universal Life force that distinguishes the Living from Dead.
- The Vital life force or Energy that permeates the universe and flows through all living beings.
- It's often described as the " Breath of Life" and is considered essential for Physical, Mental, and Spiritual well-being.
- Yoga practices, like pranayama (breath control), aim to enhance the flow and control of prana, leading to increased vitality and a deeper connection to the Self and The Universe.
- This Life force moves in our body through different channels and centres.

Channels are called - Nadi.

Centres are called- Chakras.

Yogi Breathing

Abdomen or Diaphragmatic Breathing

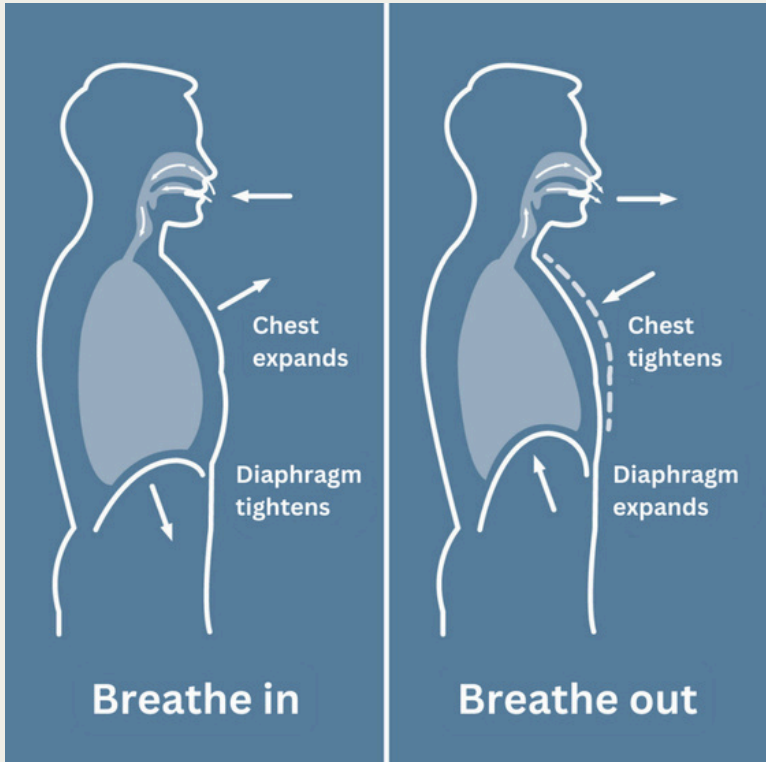

Abdomen Breathing is the Proper way of Breathing.

Abdomen breathing helps Respiration by using the diaphragm correctly.

The diaphragm is a large, dome-shaped muscle located at the base of the lungs horizontally between the chest and Abdomen cavity.

This breathing technique offers several benefits to our body like reducing the Blood Pressure , Heart Rate and Improves Relaxation.

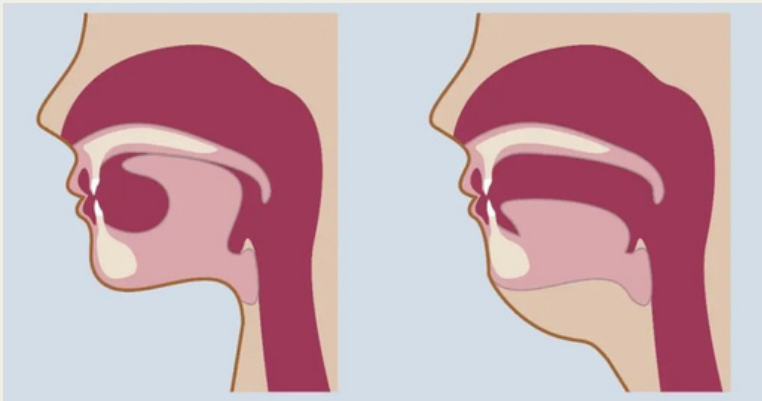

Pranayama breathing is done by Abdominal Breathing where diaphragm contract and abdomen protrudes out during inhalation and goes In while exhale.

MEW

Mewing is a technique that involves pressing the tongue against the roof of the mouth with the goal of potentially reshaping your jawline and face.

Mewing can improve breathing by promoting nasal breathing and Reducing mouth breathing, which can lower the risk of Sleep Apnea and other respiratory issues

MEW

How Mewing is Performed:

1. Close your mouth:

Ensure your lips are sealed and teeth are lightly touching.

2. Tongue Placement:

Place the tip of your tongue behind your upper front teeth, similar to when making an "n" sound.

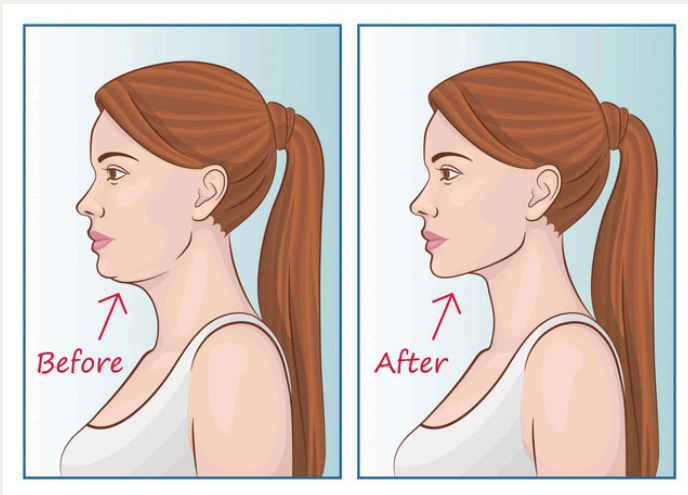

3. Apply Pressure:

Press the tongue against the roof of your mouth, feeling your jaw muscles engage.

4. Hold and Repeat:

Hold the position for at least 20 seconds and repeat multiple times throughout the day.
